SECTION B: VERIFYING FINANCIAL SECURITY

INSTRUCTIONS FOR VERIFYING FINANCIAL SECURITY

The Italian Consulate requires that students submitting applications for student visas include with their applications proof that they will be financially secure during their period of study in Italy. To be considered “financially secure,” you must submit verification that you have at least $1000 available to you per month of study in Italy.

You can do this in one of the following ways:

- 1) Submit a photocopy of your recent bank statement or monthly report that demonstrates that you have $1000 / month of study in Italy. For quarter-long programs, you should submit a bank statement or monthly report that shows that you have an account balance of about $3000. The bank statement needs to show the following three things:
 - Your name
 - The name of the bank
 - An account balance of at least $1,000 per month of study (i.e. $3,000 for quarter-long programs)

- 2) Have your parent or legal guardian complete an Affidavit of Financial Support that certifies that he/she is willing to take financial responsibility for you during your period of study in Italy. To do so, this person must fill out the Affidavit of Financial Support, have his/her signature on it notarized by a public notary and attach a photocopy of his/her recent bank statement or monthly report. This bank statement or monthly report must demonstrate that he/she has an account balance of at least $1000 / month of your study in Italy (or, for quarter-long programs, a balance of about $3000 in total). The bank statement you include with the Affidavit of Financial Support should show the following three things:
 - The affiant's name appearing on the Affidavit of Financial Support (i.e. your parent or guardian)
 - The name of the bank
 - An account balance of at least $1,000 per month of study (i.e. $3,000 for quarter-long programs)

Please see the following page for an example of how to fill out the Affidavit of Financial Support.

- 3) Submit a letter from the University of Washington that states that you will be receiving at least $1000 / month of study in Italy ($3000 in total for quarter-long programs) in financial aid. If you are a financial aid recipient, the International Programs & Exchanges Office can prepare this letter for you after you submit your visa application. Please see Section D: Financial Aid Letter Request Form. Complete and submit Section D as a part of your visa application in lieu of a bank statement. The IPE office will verify your financial aid and write the financial aid letter after your visa application is turned in.

SECTION E: FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1) Do I need a passport to apply for a visa?

Yes! A valid passport is necessary to apply for a visa. The passport is sent along with the visa application to the Italian consulate in San Francisco. Upon approval of the visa application, the visa is physically adhered to the inside of the passport. If you do not already have a passport and you are applying for a visa, please EXPEDITE this process as soon as possible. A visa application cannot be sent to the consulate without a valid passport. Information on how to apply for and expedite the passport application process can be found at www.travel.state.gov.

2) I have double citizenship with an EU country. Do I need to request a visa?

No. Holders of EU passports do not need a visa to study in Italy. Make sure to bring both of your passports with you.

3) I am financially independent. How should I fill in the Affidavit of Financial Support?

If you are taking financial responsibility for yourself, you do not need to complete the Affidavit of Financial Support. Instead, you will simply need to include a recent bank statement/monthly report that proves that you have the financial resources to support yourself while in Italy. Please provide an original and photocopy of this bank statement/monthly report for submission to the consulate.

4) I am using financial aid. How should I fill in the Affidavit of Financial Support?

Again, if you are using financial aid, you do not need to complete the Affidavit of Financial Support. Instead, you will need to obtain a letter from the University of Washington International Programs & Exchanges Office that indicates the amount allocated in your name as a means of proving that you will have the financial resources to support yourself while in Italy. Please see Section D: Financial Aid Letter Request Form.

5) How much money does my bank statement, the affiant's bank statement or my financial aid letter need to state that I have in order for my visa application to be accepted?

You need to prove that you have about $1000 per month that you will be studying in Italy in order for the Italian government to regard you as "financially secure." This means that if you are going to study in Italy for a quarter, you will need to submit a bank statement or financial aid letter that shows that you have a balance of about $3000.

6) I plan to travel before/after the program. Can I get a longer visa to take into account these extended dates?

No. You can only obtain an Italian student visa for the dates of your period of study in Italy. If you are a U.S. citizen, supplemental travel will need to occur with 90 days of your entry into Italy. For example, if your program is 75 days long, you will be issued a study visa for 75 days. You will then have 15 days remaining to travel throughout the Schengen states. If you are a citizen of another country, you will want to verify your home country's foreign policy agreement with Italy before making travel plans.

7) My spouse/child will be coming with me for the duration of the program. Does he/she need to get a visa too?

Unless your spouse/child is enrolled in the program, he/she can legally claim tourist status (as long as he/she is a U.S. citizen) and, thus, stay in Italy for up to 90 days without a visa.

8) What happens if I don't get a visa?

If you arrive in Rome without a student visa, you will be required to sign a waiver form that releases the University of Washington from responsibility from any legal and/or financial consequences that may result. (Waiver text is available on request.)
